

The Montpelier Free Press

VOL. 84--4290.

MONTPELIER, VT., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1889.

NUMBER 1.

THE VERMONT WATCHMAN.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
The Watchman Publishing Company
At Montpelier, Vt.

ARTHUR BOWEN, Editor.
T. H. HOSKINS, M. D., Associate Editor.
ALFRED HERRICK, Associate Editor.

TERMS:—$2.00 a year; $1.00 for six months;
fifty cents for three months.

Special Clubbing Offers.

City Weeklies.

In connection with this paper one or more of the following city weeklies will be furnished for FORTY-FIVE CENTS each: New York Tribune, New York Post, New York Mail and Express, Boston Journal, Boston Advertiser. Payment must be strictly in advance, both for this paper and the city papers, and for a full year. This offer is for Vermont subscribers only.

City Dailies.

The Daily Evening Record, Boston, will be furnished, conditions as above, for $1.50; the Daily Press, New York, for $2 a year.

Magazines and Papers.

The following clubbing offer is for the benefit only of subscribers to this paper who pay all arrears and a year's subscription in advance. One of more of the publications may be ordered, but the money at the club rate must invariably accompany all orders. The "club rate" is always $2.00 less than the amount given in the second column of figures.

Publication	Price, this paper.	With this paper.
American Journal	$1.50	$2.50
American Review	1.00	2.00
American Spectator	1.00	2.00
American Traveller	1.00	2.00
American Magazine	1.00	2.00
Century Magazine	1.00	2.00
Christian Union	1.00	2.00
Christian Advocate	1.00	2.00
Cottage Health	1.00	2.00
Drum Magazine	1.00	2.00
John's Magazine	1.00	2.00
Frank Leslie's Illustrated Monthly	1.00	2.00
Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly	1.00	2.00
Good Housekeeping	1.00	2.00
Golden Age	1.00	2.00
Harper's Magazine	1.00	2.00
Harper's Weekly	1.00	2.00
Harper's Young People	1.00	2.00
Homebody	1.00	2.00
Illustrated Family	1.00	2.00
Little Living Age	1.00	2.00
Mirror and Lamp	1.00	2.00
National Tribune	1.00	2.00
New York Observer	1.00	2.00
New England Review	1.00	2.00
New England Homestead	1.00	2.00
New York Mail and Express	1.00	2.00
Our Little Ones and Nursery	1.00	2.00
Patent	1.00	2.00
Penny Magazine	1.00	2.00
Practical Science Monthly	1.00	2.00
Practical Farming	1.00	2.00
Rural New Yorker	1.00	2.00
Scientific American	1.00	2.00
Scientific Monthly	1.00	2.00
St. Nicholas Magazine	1.00	2.00
Wide World	1.00	2.00
Woman's Companion	1.00	2.00
Woman's World	1.00	2.00
Zion's Herald	1.00	2.00

* After January 1, the price of American Garden with this paper will be 60c.

Business and Amusement.

Announcements.

CHRISTMAS shoppers of all kinds at Abraham Long's.

DR. C. C. WARRFIELD will treat the sick at the Pavilion every Wednesday.

Boys' and girls' tramping snow-shoes at Abraham Long's.

Buy shawls, underwear, gloves, hosiery, hats and flannels at Gleason's new store, corner of Main and East State streets.

People desiring a good paint for buildings, at a low price, are referred to the advertisement of the Patrons' Paint Works.

L. P. GLEASON & Co. have a large assortment of clocks which they offer at greatly reduced prices.

MRS. A. E. GALE of Williamstown will, on the remainder of the season, dispose of all millinery goods at a much reduced rate.

Mrs. H. H. Pontiac leggings, only $1.00, only twelve pairs left, at Abraham Long's.

EXCLUSIVE WATER from Saratoga Springs—pure, fresh, sparkling and genuine—in the glass or gallon, at Frank H. Bascom's drug and cigar store.

PAILOR suites, rockers, easy chairs, sofas and lounges, and parlor tables in beautiful styles, at the store of L. P. Gleason & Co.

MISS STONE will receive pupils at her one, 161 Main street, after January 1st, instruction given in common and higher English, Latin, French and German.

D. O. GOODNO, dentist, also dealer in rings and medicines, toilet and fancy articles. Homeopathic remedies kept in stock. Physicians' prescriptions carefully compounded. Opposite post-office, Rochester, Vt.

SEVEN PER CENT INTEREST is guaranteed on real estate mortgages sold by the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York. J. E. Curran, the Montpelier agent, has on hand an assortment of such loans and should be addressed for particulars.

"UNION COUNTY, Penn., December 10, 88.—Mr. O. W. Ingersoll: DEAR SIR—about three years ago I bought paint of you for my house. I can recommend it, for gave good satisfaction. Yours fraternally, J. E. Curran." [See advertisement Patrons' Paint Works—Editor.]

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY issues life-endowment policies at the old life-rate premium. Annual cash distributions are paid upon all policies. Every policy has insured thereon a cash surrender and paid-up insurance due to the insured is entitled by a Massachusetts statute. Pamphlets, and values for any age sent on application to James E. Curran, Montpelier, agent for Vermont.

GEORGE A. ANSWORTH, Williamstown dealer in pianos, organs and singing-machines. Barre heads, carvers, Per Chandler's jewelry store. He has the machinery for the White sewing-machine, of which J. C. Griggs of W.bury, Vt., says: "I have sold during that time, of which are fully warranted, I have called upon to pay out less than five dollars for repairs."

Montpelier and Vicinity.

GEORGE BLAIR is slowly improving.

ETTA MURKIN left yesterday for the Bermuda Islands.

HARPER PITKIN is very ill of heart pneumonia at Woodsville, N. H.

WESLEY E. LAING has been granted a patent on a device for drying boots.

J. G. FARWELL has returned from a visit of several weeks at Omaha, Nebraska.

The directors of the First National Bank declared a four per cent dividend Monday.

MAJOR GROVER, the speaker of the house, is going West this week to spend the winter.

F. W. BANCROFT is to appear as Nankipoo in the Mikado to be given at Rutland next.

The Misses Phinney are to give a drive-party at their residence next Friday evening.

The offering at Christ church next Sunday morning is to be devoted to diocesan missions.

The Apollo Club will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers, at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening.

"Pete" Conner broke finger while engaged in a wrestling bout in the rooms of the "Hobo" club recently.

The next meeting and rehearsal of the Montpelier military band will occur tomorrow (Thursday) evening.

The death-list for the town during the year 1888 is larger than for almost any previous year in its history.

The clothing-stores are to close at seven o'clock every evening except Monday and Saturday, commencing January 8.

REV. EDWARD L. SMITH of Yale Theological Seminary conducted the service at Bethany church last Sunday forenoon.

MR. AND MRS. SCOTT returned to Montpelier after a short visit to the lake to-day for their home in Omaha, Nebraska.

The Christmas concert at Bethany church Sunday evening attracted quite a number of the regular attendants at the other churches.

MR. AND MRS. D. C. GURWOOD of Jeffersonville, Ind., are now a couple of days last week visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. S. S. Ballard.

The boot and shoe-stores will close hereafter at six o'clock p. m. four days in the week, remaining open only on Monday and Saturday evenings.

The ladies of Christ church will hold a social at the rectory on Thursday evening at seven o'clock. All will be welcome. Admission, ten cents.

ALL the dry-goods and millinery stores in town have signed an agreement to close at six o'clock hereafter every evening in the week except Sunday.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor connected with Bethany church will hold a social at the home of Miss Lizzie Stinson next Friday evening.

JOHN M. THURSTON, an old Montpelier boy, now of Omaha, Neb., is one of the most successful men for the better portfolio in General Harrison's cabinet.

ROSWELL ADAMS, the victim of the railroad accident at Northfield on Monday, is a brother of Anson Adams, who formerly worked for George H. Guernsey.

M. D. GILMAN is confined to his rooms at the Pavilion by severe illness. Fears are entertained of a paralytic shock, as he is very weak from nervous prostration.

H. D. HOSKINS, Jr., the legislative engrossing clerk, has completed the copying of the laws passed at the last session and is now at work on the indexing of the volume.

There will be a business and honey social at Wright's hall, Wednesday evening, January 3, for the benefit of the church at that place. All are invited.

DR. MARY EMERY of St. Paul, Minn., with her brother-in-law, arrived in town last Saturday night, being called here to attend the funeral of the late J. C. Emery.

JOHN THURSTON, Lieutenant-governor of Wisconsin and Speaker of the Assembly in town last Wednesday. They came to ask their signatures to the engrossed laws.

The Trinity Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will meet for a social gathering this (Wednesday) evening at the home of Miss Bradshaw on the Northfield road.

SUNDAY preaching services at Wrightsville, and in the Morse school-house in East Montpelier, may be expected only once a month from this date till the opening of spring.

IT is a strange coincidence that the late C. T. Sabin and J. C. Emery, both of whom died so suddenly last week, were two of the commissioners in charge of Green Mount cemetery.

REV. H. A. SPENCER of West Randolph will conduct the services at Trinity church next Sunday forenoon and evening. In the morning the regular bi-monthly communion service will follow the sermon.

CARROLL KING is at home for a short visit, having graduated from the Harvard Law School. He is to locate at Brockton, where his brother is eminently successful in the practice of medicine.

ROGER BIXBY has a new cat—a magnificent specimen of the tiger-striped feline, with dark stripes on his broadside, seven toes on one foot, with eight claws, and on the other foot six toes. A terror to rats.

GENERAL STEPHEN THOMAS and Hiram A. Huse, Esq., are to speak at a Grand Army meeting in Plainfield January 10. Colonel Fred L. Eaton of the Sons of Veterans will also be present and speak if possible.

The local branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society held a meeting last Friday night at the house of Rev. Mrs. Sherburne. Mrs. A. B. Truax presided and the programme consisted of essays, papers and discourses.

MR. AND MRS. IRA SNOW of Lower State street have sent out invitations to the wedding reception of their son, Bert L., whose marriage to Miss Mattie V. Phillips will occur at seven o'clock to-morrow (Thursday) evening.

REV. S. C. BEACH of Dedham, Mass., superintendent of the mission work of the American Unitarian Association in northern New England, is to preach in the Church of the Messiah next Sunday morning and in the Middlesex in the afternoon at fifteen minutes past two.

The electric light station at the Pioneer works began to supply Barre Saturday night. Thirty lights were used and gave good satisfaction. Last night the number was increased to thirty-five. It is expected that the whole plant of the present station will be removed this month.

MRS. F. I. PITKIN and her brother, C. E. Roileau, left for Saratoga last Monday. They have been engaged by the Sherlock slaters to assist in the presentation of the "Chimes of Normandy" at that place this week. Mrs. Pitkin will take the part of Serpolette and Mr. Roileau that of Jean Grenichew.

LATER advice from Stamford, Conn., conveys the intelligence that Rev. J. H. Hinks' eldest son, Percy, is just recovering from a severe attack of scarlet fever and is still very weak from the effects of his sickness. Mr. Hinks' youngest daughter, Florence, was at that writing dangerously ill with the same disease.

The regular meeting of Vermont Lodge, I. O. O. F., was held last Wednesday evening. The following board of officers was chosen for the ensuing year: Noble grand, F. H. Bascom; vice-grand, C. O. Foster; permanent secretary, T. F. Ramey; treasurer, D. W. Dudley; recording secretary, F. O. Sherburne. Other officers will be appointed this evening, when the installation will take place.

The Christmas festival at the Church of the Messiah was held last Friday afternoon and evening in the parish house. Over the children of the six younger classes of the Sunday-school were treated to a supper, served from five to seven o'clock, and in the evening, after the removal of the tables, an interesting Christmas entertainment was presented.

The Chautauqua class met last week Friday with Mrs. F. L. Eaton. The programme was appropriate to the holiday season. Each one present told a short Christmas story, and the children sang songs and recited with a Christmas gift. Several selections and poems were also read and the meeting closed with an informal social "good time."

The harmony of the "Hobo" club is seriously disturbed by numerous internal dissensions which threaten the permanency of the organization. Three of the more bilious members recently went on a "tear" and smashed an accordion and sundry other articles of the club's property. The rest of the members threaten to put the law on to the offenders and make them foot the bill.

EDWARD MANLEY and Frank Ford from Barre filled up Monday afternoon with some of the XX pizen that circulates freely on festive occasions. The pair, armed with a bottle of gin and tonic, were near the bridge, and wandered around until they happened to meet an officer, about six o'clock, when they were taken to Mr. Dudley's hotel, after sampling a bit of Morrow's Rhine. Before Judge J. G. Winer, yesterday afternoon, they paid their $5.00 and skipped out.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Alma E. Baker, wife of Edward Baker of this place, will be held here at 10 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. The services were postponed to ten o'clock (this Wednesday) forenoon. Mrs. Baker died recently in Boston, at one of the hospitals, where she had gone for treatment. Her remains were brought to Montpelier yesterday forenoon for interment, but failed to arrive, necessitating a postponement of the funeral services.

The boarders at the Union House were richly entertained last week by the actions of a young couple from the city, who were married on Christmas day and came to town to enjoy their honeymoon. At the dinner-table, the other day, the bridegroom seized the pickle-jar, and handing it to her, said, "I have a little something for you, dear, won't you have a pickle?" "Wal, by gosh," said George, "I've had so many sweet things lately that I dunno but I'll eat a pickle to sorter antidote 'em."

The annual meeting of the Church of the Messiah was held Monday evening. The present board of officers was re-elected, as follows: Senior warden, Albert Johnson; junior warden, L. B. Huntington; treasurer, Fred L. Blanchard; auditors, C. H. Heath, A. W. Ferrin, A. A. Farwell; clerk, C. C. Eaton; collector, George M. Allister; executive committee, F. L. Eaton, D. H. Long, A. W. Ferrin, R. K. Peck, Mrs. C. H. Heath, Mrs. R. K. Peck and Mrs. A. D. Farwell, post agent, A. D. Farwell.

The monthly business meeting of the Trinity Christian Endeavor Society, held last Sunday evening, it was voted to add a missionary and a Sunday-school committee to the list of standing committees. Misses Hayden, Bullock and Ballard were appointed on the former, and Misses Hicks and Birtel and Mr. Ramsey on the latter. The reports from the officers showed the organization to be in a most flourishing condition, twenty-one new members having been added to the church since the last meeting.

At the church meeting held in Bethany chapel Monday evening, Rev. C. S. Smith was chosen moderator and the following officers were elected: Clerk, N. W. Frink; collector, S. S. Ballard; treasurer, G. O. Stratton; and J. V. Brock, secretary. J. V. Babcock, prudential committee; Hiram Carleton, D. G. Kemp and C. L. Smith. After the usual reports from the committees, treasurer and other officers, the singing adjourned to seven o'clock next Monday evening. It was probably the most largely attended meeting of its kind ever held in the church.

The evening service at the Methodist church Sunday evening was in charge of the ladies of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. Miss Mary Nutt gave a history of the missionary movement and of the work of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in particular. Miss Lucy Guernsey read a paper on "The Work of the missionary," showing the progress of the work in Japan. Mrs. J. O. Sherburne also read on the same subject. The meeting was closed with a few remarks by Rev. J. C. Emery. A collection for the support of foreign missions.

The First National Bank made the following statement to its stockholders January 1:

ASSETS.	LIABILITIES.
Loans	$414,348.88
United States bonds	30,000.00
Other bonds	10,000.00
Real estate	15,123.62
Due from United States treasurer	2,250.00
Due from National City Bank	2,250.00
Cash	42,728.49
Total	$504,700.99

CAPITAL.	LIABILITIES.
Capital stock	$250,000.00
Surplus and profits	67,231.50
Profits and losses	2,424.00
Circulation	45,000.00
Deposits	45,000.00
Dividend, payable January 1, 1889	10,000.00
Total	$504,700.99

The bank declared a four per cent semi-annual dividend, payable January 1.

The annual convocation of Mount Zion Commandery, No. 9, Knights Templar, was held at that place, January 1, 1889. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Eminent commander, William A. Briggs; generalissimo, George L. Lane; captain-general, Norman W. Frink; grand scribe, J. C. Emery; grand treasurer, Fred L. Eaton; junior warden, Edwin O. Hibbard; treasurer, Frank H. Bascom; recorder, Charles H. Heaton; standard-bearer, Evan L. White; sword-bearer, Darius H. White; marshals, J. C. Emery, first captain of guard, James T. Sabin; second captain of guard, Arch. Batchelder; third captain of guard, Frank A. Dwinell; commissary, James A. Erwin; armorer, Charles H. Fuller; manual director, J. W. F. Washburn; sentinel, Fred W. Sherburne. The officers were installed by Collins Blakely, past eminent commander, assisted by Charles E. Abbott of West Randolph as grand chaplain. An elegant banquet was served, after which the orders were conferred.

The Montpelier National Bank makes the following statement of its condition at the close of business, December 31:

ASSETS.	LIABILITIES.
Loans and discounts	$743,208.52
United States bonds	300,000.00
Other bonds	10,000.00
Real estate	15,123.62
Due from National City Bank	2,250.00
Due from Merchants' National Bank	2,250.00
Cash on hand	25,912.47
Total	$1,028,544.51

CAPITAL.	LIABILITIES.
Capital stock	$250,000.00
Surplus	67,231.50
Profits and losses	2,424.00
Circulation	45,000.00
Deposits	45,000.00
Dividend, payable January 1, 1889	10,000.00
Total	$1,028,544.51

It made its regular semi-annual dividend of three per cent January 1, and an extra dividend of five per cent.

The Christmas concert given by the Sunday-school of Bethany society in the audience-room of the church, last Sunday evening, was one of the finest and most enjoyable children's services ever given in the place. The programme, every number on which was finely rendered, was as follows: Sabbath-school song, "The Christmas Song," by Rev. E. L. Smith; responsive service by the Superintendent and a class of children: "A Little Child's Prayer," "Beautiful Things," a recitation by seven children: "The Three Marys," by Miss Knapp's class; singing, "In Bethlehem's Inn," reading, "No Room in the Inn," by Miss Freeman; "Wonderful Things," recitation and song, by Mrs. Briggs' class; "Why the Angels Sang," by Miss Grace's class; "Wonderful Star," by a chorus of children: "The Three Kings of the Orient," sang by Mrs. Towner's class; "Christmas Bells," reading and song, by a class; "Santa Claus's Letter," a reading, by Miss Iris Blanchard's class; Christmas songs from the Seasons—spring, summer, autumn and winter—recitation by four young ladies in appropriate costume. Just preceding the last number on the programme the baskets were passed and filled with a generous collection of Christmas offerings for the poor, including gifts of both money and goods.

After singing a verse of "Coronation," the audience was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. E. L. Smith. The exercises were in charge of the popular and efficient superintendent, A. J. Howe, to whom great credit is due for the highly successful manner in which the programme was carried out.

The marriage of Ernest Langdon Spurr of Omaha, Nebraska, and Kate, daughter of Hon. Charles Dewey, took place in Christ church on Thursday evening. The interest and good-will of our people toward the young couple had been proved by the presence of a large and brilliant assembly, despite the forbidding weather. The church was its Christmas suit of decorations—large crosses and garlands on the walls, wreaths and flowers on the altar, and a beautiful and appropriate festal. The feature of the ornamentation was a rood screen covered with spruce, extending across the entire chancel. The screen consisted of the front of a large, old-fashioned, rustic, the middle one surmounted by a large gilt cross, the whole producing a novel and beautiful effect. Just above the center of the screen a cross-beam was suspended a marriage altar and a canopy of white, with a white cloth and a white canopy. The altar, pulpit and other chancel furniture were dressed in white, the color of the season. Master Julius Dewey had charge of the service, and the wedding was a most beautiful and happy occasion.

The bride and groom were escorted to their places by the ushers, Messrs. McCuen, Blakely, Carter, Brown, Robert and George Dewey. The bride was escorted by her father, Mr. Spurr. The bride advanced upon her father's arm, and Mrs. Dewey was escorted by the bridegroom, preceded by the ushers, to the foot of the chancel steps. The service was a most beautiful and happy occasion. The bride was given away by her father. The solemn words of caution, betrothal, espousal and prayer were said, and with the benediction the bride and groom were pronounced man and wife. The procession retired in the reverse order of entrance—the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey, respectively, together with the bridesmaids, followed by the wedding party, and the wedding march from Longfellow. Our lady friends would deem these lines incomplete did we neglect to say that the bride was attired in rich, white, gossamer silk, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridegroom was dressed in a tuxedo, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Dewey wore a lavender frock, trimmed with silver brocade and duchesse lace, with diamonds. While space forbids further detail, we may allude to the costume of Mrs. Edward Dewey—white velvet with point lace and diamonds. The happy couple did not give a general reception. Only relatives, and those sharing in the religious duties of the public, were invited to the house, where all sat down to a feast of good things, breaking up at a late hour, in time for the night express south.

The presents covered a large range—money, gold and silver, and the bride and groom were escorted to their places by the ushers, Messrs. McCuen, Blakely, Carter, Brown, Robert and George Dewey. The bride was escorted by her father, Mr. Spurr. The bride advanced upon her father's arm, and Mrs. Dewey was escorted by the bridegroom, preceded by the ushers, to the foot of the chancel steps. The service was a most beautiful and happy occasion. The bride was given away by her father. The solemn words of caution, betrothal, espousal and prayer were said, and with the benediction the bride and groom were pronounced man and wife. The procession retired in the reverse order of entrance—the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey, respectively, together with the bridesmaids, followed by the wedding party, and the wedding march from Longfellow. Our lady friends would deem these lines incomplete did we neglect to say that the bride was attired in rich, white, gossamer silk, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridegroom was dressed in a tuxedo, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Dewey wore a lavender frock, trimmed with silver brocade and duchesse lace, with diamonds. While space forbids further detail, we may allude to the costume of Mrs. Edward Dewey—white velvet with point lace and diamonds. The happy couple did not give a general reception. Only relatives, and those sharing in the religious duties of the public, were invited to the house, where all sat down to a feast of good things, breaking up at a late hour, in time for the night express south.

The presents covered a large range—money, gold and silver, and the bride and groom were escorted to their places by the ushers, Messrs. McCuen, Blakely, Carter, Brown, Robert and George Dewey. The bride was escorted by her father, Mr. Spurr. The bride advanced upon her father's arm, and Mrs. Dewey was escorted by the bridegroom, preceded by the ushers, to the foot of the chancel steps. The service was a most beautiful and happy occasion. The bride was given away by her father. The solemn words of caution, betrothal, espousal and prayer were said, and with the benediction the bride and groom were pronounced man and wife. The procession retired in the reverse order of entrance—the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey, respectively, together with the bridesmaids, followed by the wedding party, and the wedding march from Longfellow. Our lady friends would deem these lines incomplete did we neglect to say that the bride was attired in rich, white, gossamer silk, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridegroom was dressed in a tuxedo, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Dewey wore a lavender frock, trimmed with silver brocade and duchesse lace, with diamonds. While space forbids further detail, we may allude to the costume of Mrs. Edward Dewey—white velvet with point lace and diamonds. The happy couple did not give a general reception. Only relatives, and those sharing in the religious duties of the public, were invited to the house, where all sat down to a feast of good things, breaking up at a late hour, in time for the night express south.

The presents covered a large range—money, gold and silver, and the bride and groom were escorted to their places by the ushers, Messrs. McCuen, Blakely, Carter, Brown, Robert and George Dewey. The bride was escorted by her father, Mr. Spurr. The bride advanced upon her father's arm, and Mrs. Dewey was escorted by the bridegroom, preceded by the ushers, to the foot of the chancel steps. The service was a most beautiful and happy occasion. The bride was given away by her father. The solemn words of caution, betrothal, espousal and prayer were said, and with the benediction the bride and groom were pronounced man and wife. The procession retired in the reverse order of entrance—the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey, respectively, together with the bridesmaids, followed by the wedding party, and the wedding march from Longfellow. Our lady friends would deem these lines incomplete did we neglect to say that the bride was attired in rich, white, gossamer silk, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridegroom was dressed in a tuxedo, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Dewey wore a lavender frock, trimmed with silver brocade and duchesse lace, with diamonds. While space forbids further detail, we may allude to the costume of Mrs. Edward Dewey—white velvet with point lace and diamonds. The happy couple did not give a general reception. Only relatives, and those sharing in the religious duties of the public, were invited to the house, where all sat down to a feast of good things, breaking up at a late hour, in time for the night express south.

The presents covered a large range—money, gold and silver, and the bride and groom were escorted to their places by the ushers, Messrs. McCuen, Blakely, Carter, Brown, Robert and George Dewey. The bride was escorted by her father, Mr. Spurr. The bride advanced upon her father's arm, and Mrs. Dewey was escorted by the bridegroom, preceded by the ushers, to the foot of the chancel steps. The service was a most beautiful and happy occasion. The bride was given away by her father. The solemn words of caution, betrothal, espousal and prayer were said, and with the benediction the bride and groom were pronounced man and wife. The procession retired in the reverse order of entrance—the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey, respectively, together with the bridesmaids, followed by the wedding party, and the wedding march from Longfellow. Our lady friends would deem these lines incomplete did we neglect to say that the bride was attired in rich, white, gossamer silk, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridegroom was dressed in a tuxedo, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Dewey wore a lavender frock, trimmed with silver brocade and duchesse lace, with diamonds. While space forbids further detail, we may allude to the costume of Mrs. Edward Dewey—white velvet with point lace and diamonds. The happy couple did not give a general reception. Only relatives, and those sharing in the religious duties of the public, were invited to the house, where all sat down to a feast of good things, breaking up at a late hour, in time for the night express south.

The presents covered a large range—money, gold and silver, and the bride and groom were escorted to their places by the ushers, Messrs. McCuen, Blakely, Carter, Brown, Robert and George Dewey. The bride was escorted by her father, Mr. Spurr. The bride advanced upon her father's arm, and Mrs. Dewey was escorted by the bridegroom, preceded by the ushers, to the foot of the chancel steps. The service was a most beautiful and happy occasion. The bride was given away by her father. The solemn words of caution, betrothal, espousal and prayer were said, and with the benediction the bride and groom were pronounced man and wife. The procession retired in the reverse order of entrance—the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey, respectively, together with the bridesmaids, followed by the wedding party, and the wedding march from Longfellow. Our lady friends would deem these lines incomplete did we neglect to say that the bride was attired in rich, white, gossamer silk, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridegroom was dressed in a tuxedo, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Dewey wore a lavender frock, trimmed with silver brocade and duchesse lace, with diamonds. While space forbids further detail, we may allude to the costume of Mrs. Edward Dewey—white velvet with point lace and diamonds. The happy couple did not give a general reception. Only relatives, and those sharing in the religious duties of the public, were invited to the house, where all sat down to a feast of good things, breaking up at a late hour, in time for the night express south.

The presents covered a large range—money, gold and silver, and the bride and groom were escorted to their places by the ushers, Messrs. McCuen, Blakely, Carter, Brown, Robert and George